

Guidelines vs. Brown

Brown University researchers reviewed studies that have been used as the basis for the IDSA Lyme Treatment Guidelines. According to the IDSA, these studies proved that retreatment for chronic Lyme disease is futile. As a result, the CDC discourages retreatment and insurance coverage. However, Brown's researchers have demonstrated that these studies prove nothing.

lymestats.org